

Electoral Review of Devon

The independent Local Government Boundary Commission for England is carrying out an electoral review of Devon County Council.

The review will draw new electoral division boundaries across Devon.

The Commission has also announced that it is minded to recommend that 60 county councillors should be elected to the council in future: two fewer than the current arrangement.

Now we are asking for evidence about your local area to help us decide a new pattern of electoral divisions for Devon County Council.

Your views will make a difference

Local people know their area best. That's why we are asking you for evidence on a range of issues:

- Do you have suggestions about where your division boundaries should be?
- Which areas do you identify as your local community?
- Where do people in your area go to access local facilities such as shops and leisure activities?
